Young Republicans National Convention

The 2009 Young Republicans National Convention will be held this year in Indianapolis on July 8th to July 12th. Our party's future success depends in part on adding new, young voters to our ranks. This convention will bring together young adults (40 and under) organized around and focusing on this important task. Nationally recognized speakers will be there, too, to support and energize those in attendance. The Warrick County Republican Party will pay the registration fee for one young man and one young woman to attend
